Brown, Carter Cash and Chesney Join Hall

Country Music Hall of Fame CEO Kyle Young called all gathered for this year's Medallion Ceremony to the task of honoring "three ambitious children of Appalachia" Sunday evening (10/19) in Nashville, and the mix of music, stories and gratitude was, as is ordinary for the event, extraordinary. "This year's class is bound by one word: driven," said CMA CEO Sarah Trahern, and the night's testimony bore that out on behalf of Tony Brown, June Carter Cash and Kenny Chesney.

Tony Brown

John Carter Cash and Carlene Carter

Press On: Each inductee was honored with a video bio, expository remarks from Young and musical performances. For the late June Carter Cash, the latter were Kacey Musgraves and Daniel Tashian on "Ring Of Fire," Keb' Mo' and Ruby Amanfu on "Keep On The Sunny Side" and Lukas Nelson on "It Ain't Me." Emmylou Harris handled induction honors for "my beautiful friend June Carter Cash," as she put it. Recounting a holiday visit to the Cash home in Jamaica, she said, "June was, of course, the ultimate southern hostess attending to our every need and comfort. That is until she brought out the Scrabble board – and then all bets were off ... Behind that sweet, innocent smile lurked a relentless competitor." Emphasizing that June never put herself above her audience, Harris said, "June made it her business to celebrate, to encourage and lift up all of us. And she did it with her whole heart and with a rare and genuine grace."

John Carter Cash and Carlene Carter accepted induction on their mother's behalf.

"My mother never met a stranger," John Carter said. "Of course, she was a great artist, great entertainer, but it is her love that put her [in the hall]. An undying belief that the circle would endure. She sang that song around the

Q3 PPM Drivetime Leaders

Following the release of the September Nielsen PPM monthlies, Country Aircheck has analyzed Q2 numbers to determine the stations with leading shares and cumes in drivetimes. Quarterly averages eliminate the wobbles that can be present at a daypart level on a month-to-month basis. All figures are Persons 6+.

Mornings: All of Q2's leaders have repeated in Q3, except for morning drive cume. For the first time, KSCS/Dallas lands at the top with Mark "Hawkeye" Louis and Michelle Rodriguez pulling in slightly more than 300,000 listeners. That puts them 5,500 ahead of the second-place Q Morning Show on KKBQ/Houston. Last quarter's leaders, WUSN/Chicago's Melissa McGurren and Austin Huff, slip to third place with 291,000.

In terms of share, WWYZ/Hartford's Damon Scott and Amanda Jo Parker solidify their lead with a 1.1 share increase. Just two tenths of a share behind them is KSOP/Salt Lake City's Dave Gunderson and Deb Turpin, while Jesse Tack and Anna Marie from WUBE/Cincinnati jump from a sixth-place tie last quarter to land in the number three spot.

Afternoons: WUSN's Scotty Kay repeats as the most-listened to PM drive show; his 440,700 is the largest cume in any daypart for this quarter. Two Texans swap the runner up spots as KKBQ's Lauren "Lo" Sessions-Barker moves from third to second and KPLX/Dallas' Jason Pullman retreats from second to third.

WCTK/Providence's Kevin Lawrence has the largest share in afternoons for the third straight quarter, and his 12.5 is the largest share in the daypart in more than three years. He is two shares above Joey Brooks of WWYZ, who finishes in second despite an 8.5 to 10.5 jump. WQDR/Raleigh's Mike "Mad Dawg" Biddle rounds out the top three. See the 2025 Q2 leaders here; Q1 here; 2024 Q4 leaders here; Q3 here. —Chris Huff

OFF THE RECORD

MCA's Priscilla Block shares the Things You Didn't See behind her new album:

The title track is my letter to the world, and why I felt like it was so perfect to title this album Things You Didn't See. I've been a girl to put it all out there – and, honestly, I probably overshare. When you listen to this song, you start to understand why I am the way that I am, where I come from and what makes me ... me. Perception is everything; you might see a girl who lucked out on TikTok, but I see a girl that has been grinding for 11 years to make it. You might see a girl who's just been doing her own thing, but I've seen the man that's been by my side the entire time. You might see a family that looks picture perfect, but I've seen the struggles that have shaped me into who I am today. I hope that when you listen to this song, you get to jump into my world and see the things you didn't see.

"Couldn't Care Less" was the therapy that I needed. It's super raw, vulnerable and honest, and it dives into where I've been in my life for the past couple years. Sometimes you see a girl with a big personality who is confident and positive, and it's easy to assume they're bulletproof. This song taps into being human and the struggles that come along with feeling misunderstood. I'm so proud of this song, and I feel like it's for anyone that's ever felt this way or feels like you have to be there for everyone all the time – it's okay not to be okay.

"Time Ain't A Two Lane" is a very, very special song, and it's the only demo that I put on the record. There was just so much emotion on the day that we wrote it, and you can't recreate that in a recording, so I wanted it to feel raw and honest. Anyone that's ever experienced loss knows the feeling of wishing you would've called someone more or taken more time when you had it. The song is based off of a true story; one of my really good friends tragically lost his sister, and I had a songwriting session shortly after that Warner Chappell was putting on in Key West. I walked into the room with the idea that time ain't a two lane, and we wrote this for him and his sister. As I've gotten older, I have started to realize that time is so precious. I've lost people in my life this past year, including my publisher Ben Vaughn. This song felt like it needed to be on this project – it's a reminder to call the people that you love and spend time with them because you can't get it back.

"Goodwill to Gucci" is all personality. This song is me to my core: it's got the sass, it's got the trash. It's the idea that no matter what you're wearing, you rock it and make it look good. It's actually inspired by a true story, too. I was on my way to play a sold-out show, and I had just gotten my new merch hat that said "sass and a * *." I went to the airport bar and got a whiskey, and there were two ladies talking about me – loud enough that I could hear it. One was like "oh my gosh, who would ever wear that on their hat," but it's literally the best-selling item we have! It inspired me to write this song about owning who you are and your vibe, whether it's Goodwill or Gucci.

Playing "Stranger Things" feels bigger than life and having Chase Matthew on it was such a win. I'm such a big fan of his, and I love how he's just built his fan base one by one. There's a lot of similarities between me and him in this song. It was awesome, and I really feel like we took it to the next level.

No. 1. This is Wallen's 20th trip to the top. The song's 40.7 million audience impressions for the week are the most for any song since the week ending Feb. 1, when Wallen's "Love Somebody" pulled 41.6m in its second week at No. 1. Wallen now has the three largest weekly audience totals for 2025 and six of the year's 10 largest. Songwriters are Ryan Vojtesak, Ernest Keith Smith, Michael Hardy, Chase McGill, Blake Pendergrass and Wallen.

The Big Loud crew and Wallen also take the CA/MB Add Board title this week with "20 Cigarettes." This is Wallen's 17th release to top the board, and its 91 adds give him the third largest opening week of his career.

world and I'm so grateful for that." Carlene added, "Kyle said so much stuff, y'all. John Carter and I looked at each other [like], 'What else can we say?' She loves us all and she's always watching over us. All you guys that are in [the hall] already. Well, mama's here now ... and she's going to make sure everybody's feeling good."

When I Call Your Name: Steve Earle and Lyle Lovett took the stage together to honor Brown, performing "If I Had A Boat" and "Guitar Town," respectively. Trisha Yearwood sang "Perfect Love," and George Strait closed the musical portion with "Troubadour." Introduced as President of the Country Music Foundation board, Vince Gill noted he's only in the role because "I have naked pictures of Kyle Young," thus kicking off an induction speech for Brown that ranged from laughter-inducing to poignant. "The point of life is to see how many friends you can make," he said. "I've made some good ones, and none better than Tony." From how Brown saved Gill's spot on the MCA roster, to loading Brown on a luggage cart and returning him to his room after a few too many, the stories Gill told illustrated why the Medallion Ceremony is widely regarded as one of the genre's best events.

"Needless to say, I've had some big things happen in my life," Brown said. "This is by far the biggest. For years, everybody thought my life and career were defined by playing for Elvis Presley, but [now] my career is defined by being inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. This, to me, is validation ... it means I've made an impact somehow, that I take my job seriously and I love what I do." Brown noted that Norro Wilson gave him a shot as a co-producer, and that "my life changed the day I joined MCA Records ... The great [then-promo exec] Scott Borchetta made sure the world heard the records I produced and [head publicist] Susan Levy made sure they knew who I was ... Thanks to Susan and Scott, I sort of did get noticed, thank God. But anyway, I'm so thankful for tonight. I give the Lord Jesus Christ all the honor and glory for this."

Don't Blink: Performing to honor Chesney were Kelsea Ballerini ("Somewhere With You"), Megan Moroney ("Knowing You") and Eric Church, who said, "Full disclosure, I'm your alternate quarterback. I was not supposed to be here. The person who was supposed to be here got ill. Why am I not the first call Kenny? What the hell, bro?" Church played a medley in place of the expected Joe Walsh, who had intended to perform "Young." Instead, it was parts of "I Go Back," "El Cerrito Place" and "Old Blue Chair," among others, obviously played off-the-cuff and, somehow, expertly.

Inducting Chesney was his former label head and 2022 Hall inductee Joe Galante, who saluted Chesney's devotion to music, mentoring of younger artists, charitable work and personal touch. "You spent your entire career building a family," Galante said. "Your crew, band, management, label ... all of us are family."

Calling the moment "overwhelming" and Galante "the Don Corleone of the music business," Chesney also thanked the performers and highlighted a conversation he had on tour with Moroney. "Megan asked me a very smart question ... if I ever let myself feel accomplished," he said. "The truth is, I've never let myself sit in accomplishment. [But] walking into that rotunda and taking that group shot with a lot of my heroes and friends was the first time I ever felt accomplished in my life." He thanked his managers Dale Morris and Clint Higham, his extended team and early believers, including family. "It's really good to be 57 years old, inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame and sitting beside your mother and father," he said, later adding, "This dream has allowed me to chase the sun ... and bring a lot of friends along with me." He closed by reciting the lyrics from his song "I Didn't Get Here Alone." Read them here.

The evening came to its traditional end as 2024 inductee John Anderson led the band and audience in singing the A.P. Carter-penned "Will The Circle Be Unbroken."

CHECK OUT

OCTOBER 24

Alexandra Kay Second Wind (Wheelhouse)

Kay's 14-track sophomore album includes previously released songs "Feminine Energy," "The Last" and "Cupid's A Cowgirl," as well as lead single "Straight For The Heart" and the Kay, Andrew DeRoberts and Allison Veltz-Cruz-penned "What He Does."

Billy Currington King Of The World (MCA)

Currington co-wrote two of the 10 tracks on the album, which also features contributions from writers including Dean Dillon, Scotty Emerick, Corey Crowder, Johnny Clawson and Ben Hayslip. He previewed the Carson Chamberlain-produced project with early releases "One Thing I Ain't Been" and "King Of The World."

Mickey Guyton Feels Like Christmas (MCA)

In addition to original track "Sugar Cookie," Guyton's first full-length holiday album features covers of newer ("Do You Want To Build A Snowman?") and classic ("O Holy Night") holiday songs.

Randy Rogers Band The Going (—)

Among the five songs on the EP are the Rogers, Jedd Hughes and Adam Wright-written title track and collaboration with fellow Texan Parker McCollum ("Is This Thing Workin'").
