

Entertainment PR firm, OH Creative, is looking for a Nashville-based PR coordinator to join our growing team. The position will oversee the company's social media strategy, implement organizational systems, assist with research and development in the media landscape and provide overall support to the PR staff. We are seeking a motivated self-starter with exceptional organizational skills who will thrive in a fast-paced environment. Qualified candidates are those with 1-2 years of experience or relevant internships with references.

Representing clients including A-list songwriters, Nashville's most promising new artists, and established nonprofits, OH Creative strives to thoughtfully tell our clients' stories with a dynamic approach to stay ahead of the curve.

We'd love to get to know you! Tell us more about yourself, your experience, and why you think you'd be a good fit for the team. Please email hello@theohcreative.com along with your resume; writing samples are strongly encouraged but not required.
