Airplay Shift Decades In The Making

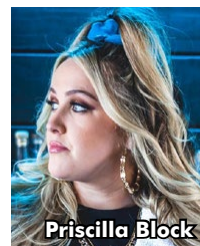

"The chart's too slow." "Labels (and managers) don't know when to let go." "There's too much product." "Radio has ceded music discovery." Those statements and variations thereof are oft-repeated complaints that point to an unprecedented two-decade-long shift in the country business. An analysis of airplay from 1989 to the present as reflected by the Radio & Records, R&R/Mediabase and Country

Aircheck/Mediabase chart shows the average number of weeks a song spends on the chart has grown from less than 12 (1989) to more than 32 so far this year (see graph page 5).

Yearly averages are only part of the story, however. In January of this year, Priscilla Block's "Just About Over You" set a new record for weeks-on at 62, breaking the then-18-month-old record of 61 set by labelmate Travis Denning (see list page 15). No song had broken the 30-week barrier prior to Chely Wright's "It Was" in March of 2000. The one-year on-chart mark famously fell in 2010 with Lee Brice's "Love Like Crazy," and the numbers keep growing.

Lee Brice

Priscilla Block

In 2021, 42 songs spent more than 30 weeks on the chart (see Heat Map, page 5); 29 of them reached No. 1. Country crossed into double digit songs at 45-plus weeks-on per year in 2019 (10), and-2020 and 2021 both registered six songs lasting more than 50 weeks. Of the 20 songs in the history of the format that have spent 52 weeks or more on the chart, only two peaked before 2016: Craig Campbell's "Outta My Head" (2012) and Brice's "Love Like Crazy." (See Historical Most Weeks-On page 15.)

Q&A: Vere's Rusty Harmon

Label Head Rusty Harmon reflects on the first year of Vere Music, which has John King and Lucas Hoge on its roster, among others.

CA: Where did the idea for Vere Music originate?

RH: Vere evolved after managing artists for more than 30 years and running a label for about four. With all the ways artists have to release music today, [A&R head] Alyssa [Logan] and I wanted to develop a company that specializes in distribution, marketing and customer service, all while maintaining consistent communication with the artists. So many distribution companies sign an act, get the artist in the system, then disappear. If the artist has IT issues or wants to update a marketing driver, with a DSP it's difficult to resolve. As a former manager, I understand how important it is to give the artist a voice, listen to their issues and do everything in our power to resolve those issues. We like to think that's how we operate Vere.

What services do you offer?

Distribution ... with a punch! We develop marketing campaigns, execute those campaigns, meet weekly with each artist and update their marketing initiatives so our Label Mgr. at ADA has the tools needed to best present each artist to the respective DSP. We also manage label services as needed, including publicity, social media management and content creation.

What was your original goal and/or mission? Has it evolved?

The goal is growth in all areas for the artist, including streams, social media platforms and touring revenue and, ultimately, to upstream artists. We partner with Warner Music Group and have the ability to upstream to Warner Bros., Atlantic Records or Elektra, when all parties – including the artists – agree. Not every artist wants to work with a major. In that case, we assist them in being the best indie artist they can be. Our marketing campaigns have evolved, and our relationship with our major label partners has certainly evolved, but our general concept has remained consistent.

Did the pandemic affect the launch?

The most important element in all of this is the interaction we have with ADA. They were so supportive as we began our release processes. The pandemic allowed us to slow down, develop our best practices and execute them properly. To date, we have released more than 200 singles, have signed about 27 artists and have three labels operating under our umbrella.

What skills and lessons from your time in management and at labels carried over into Vere?

I like to think we run this label with the mentality of a management company. Managers are responsible for every aspect of an artist's career; while we don't specifically oversee all aspects, we certainly oversee all aspects pertaining to releases. We can work well with managers that are already involved with the artists, or we can assist in management issues if the artist does not currently have a manager. This can be extremely beneficial to developmental artists.

What are the biggest takeaways from your first year in business?

The importance of the relationship with ADA. That's not guaranteed, and it is not necessarily the fault of the distributor. Sometimes, the label doesn't deliver assets properly, or the product simply is not where it should be. We absolutely love ADA, Robert Turner, Cat Kreidich, the IT team ... honestly, the entire team.

My biggest surprise for the first year has been how smoothly things have gone. I've started a few companies from the ground up, and there are always hiccups. But this year, we have had great support from our artists, our distributor, our sister company and Warner Music Group.

What do you have planned for year two and beyond?

We are extremely proud of our growth in the first year, and the industry can expect more growth. Our vision is to scale the label gradually, work more closely with Warner Music Group, sign bigger artists and maybe even look at a JV opportunity. A long-term goal is to build out our model overseas.

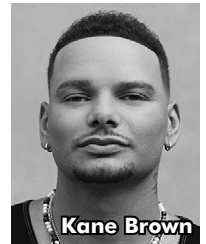

—Caitlin DeForest

Chart Chat

Congratulations to Kane Brown, Steve Hodges, Dennis Reese and the RCA promotion team on landing this week's No. 1 with "Like I Love Country Music." This is Brown's eighth visit to the top of the chart. Songwriters are Jordan Schmidt, Taylor Phillips, Matt McGinn and Brown.

The 10-5 jump this week for Cole Swindell's "She Had Me At Heads Carolina" marks the biggest move into the top five since Kane Brown's "Good As You" similarly moved 10-5 in April 2019.

Kudos to Katie Dean and the MCA crew on racking up 49 adds for Parker McCollum's "Handle On You." This is his first time to top the CA/MB Add Board.

Meanwhile, fewer songs chart every year, and the number of songs able to reach No. 1 and shift to recurrent in less than 20 weeks is in steep decline. From 2008 to 2016, at least a dozen songs traversed the chart in that time frame, but in 2017 eight managed the feat – and last year there were only three. Concurrently, the annual record holder for shortest number of weeks to No. 1 reached an all-time high with the Jason Aldean & Carrie Underwood duet "If I Didn't Love You," which took 17 weeks to hit the top of the chart. The reasons behind and implications of this shift will be explored in next week's Country Aircheck Weekly.

Methodology Note: Weeks-on is based on charting in the Top 50. Analysis uses calendar year, not official chart year as published in Country Aircheck's year-end print edition.
