Jacobs Debuts Stationalized iPhone App

Smartphone applications to stream radio stations have become increasingly relevant, not only for consumers who get to enjoy their favorite station for free, but also for broadcasters, who understand that being competitive with alternative media requires ubiquitous connectivity.

Among the early entrants more than a year ago, the SHOUTcast iRadio player aggregated thousands of stations. More recently, the Radiolicious player began providing a list of AM/FM stations, searchable by genre or location, that pay or barter a subscription fee to feature the MySimBook.com-delivered software allowing iPhone consumers to listen, bookmark, request songs, send comments and enter contests. Regent Communications recently signed with Radiolicious, while Entercom (via FlyTunes' FlyCast), Clear Channel (via its iHeartRadio service) and CBS (via AOL), among others, also are already making certain station streams available for the iPhone.

Now Jacobs Media is custom-tailoring the process with its new "iPhone One Touch" application. For a flat $1,000 station fee, the software loads your station's logo onto iPhones and enables consumers to tap and listen instantly for free.

Toby Keith's White House Connection

Retired Marine General James Jones was named National Security Advisor for the Obama administration today. But long before he was chosen to help shape national policy, Jones helped Toby Keith shape his 2002 album and, ultimately, radio airplay and the course of the Oklahoman's career.

Gen. Jones was in attendance at the Pentagon during a post 9/11/01 performance by Keith for Marines shipping off to Afghanistan. On the set list was a song Keith wrote as a morale booster for those heading into harm's way called "Courtesy Of The Red, White And Blue (The Angry American)."

Following the performance, Jones told Keith he should release the song, and though Unleashed was already done, Toby went back into the studio. And the rest, as they say, is history.

Gen. James Jones introduces Toby Keith during Keith's 2005 USO Tour.

Remembering A Legend

Bill Drake, regarded as one of the most influential and powerful programmers in modern radio, died in Los Angeles Nov. 29 of lung cancer at 71. Along with partner Gene Chenault, Drake formulated the "Boss Radio" concept of tight playlists, bigger-than-life personalities and promotions, “forward momentum” formatics and many other innovations that spurred the success of numerous major market Top 40 stations including, perhaps most memorably, KHJ/Los Angeles in 1965 with PD Ron Jacobs.

However, Drake’s impact on Country radio was enormous, thanks to the company’s massively successful format syndication unit, which most affiliates carried fulltime. At one point in the ‘70s, hundreds of broadcasters embraced the Drake-Chenault Great American Country presentation, voiced and musically directed by Bob Kingsley and consulted by Lee Bailey, Jaye Albright and Joe Patrick. Among the many affiliates were powerhouses WTQR/Winston-Salem, KXXY/Oklahoma City and WAMZ/Louisville. Drake-Chenault was sold to Broadcast Programming, Inc. in 1991.

Drake was regarded as a formatic and research genius who, when visiting a client, wouldn’t go into the station, preferring to stay in the hotel. While simultaneous listening to several radios tuned to various stations to detect opportunities and weaknesses, he would feed input to an associate to convey internally.

Although he worked for D-C for 20 years, Kingsley told Country Aircheck that he’d only met Drake once. “Gene hired me, and I’d only been there a year. One day there’s this huge guy looming over me, and he said, ‘Bob, I notice on the classic reels you’ve got a couple songs that aren’t hits.’ I said, ‘Mr. Drake, I am of the firm belief if it sounds like a hit and means something to the format, it fits.’ He replied, ‘I understand that. Carry on.’ He was a big country music fan.”

Albright, who served as National/Consultant/Country from 1979-1984, said on her blog today, “Today’s popular theorem that programming is nothing but a service bureau for sales would have horrified programming purist Drake.” Albright later reflected to Country Aircheck, “Bill demanded a lot of himself, and was an inspiration to work with. His style was very pleasant and upbeat, but he was all about the execution. He kept things as simple as possible and cleared out anything that wasn’t needed. He understood why people used a radio station, and focused

MY TUNES: MUSIC THAT SHAPED MY LIFE

Phillip Sweet

Little Big Town’s Phillip Sweet discusses his most important songs, albums or concerts:

1. Willie Nelson/Always on My Mind:

It always allowed me to really feel the emotion of the lyric. It is written so well, so conversational, yet it cuts to the heart.

2. Steve Wariner/Small Town Girl: Wariner had a fresh new sound. It was country and he sang great.

3. Kenny Loggins, *Outside: From The Redwoods: This album is still great to listen to and features some of the best musicianship I’ve ever heard. It features Chris Rodriguez, of whom I’m a big fan and later became friends with, on BGVs and guitar. He was one of my first Nashville co-writing situations and a great encouragement to me.

4. Rich Mullins, Jonesboro, AR: I was in college at the time and my musician buddy, Doug Pierce, invited me. I was really moved by Rich’s music and his band. His flavor was very worldly and I ended up buying more of his records. Not long after this concert, Rich passed away from a tragic car accident. I will never forget the impact of his soul on this earth and his music on me.

5. Sting, *Starwood Amphitheatre, 1998: I was very new to Nashville when I went to this amazing show. He truly set the bar high, as a performer and really inspired me to push myself harder.

• A highly regarded song or album you’ve never heard:

Emmylou Harris, Roses in the Snow. This is a favorite of one of my band mates, Kimberly Schlapman, but I have never listened to it!

• An “important” piece of music you just don’t get: Panic at the Disco, I Write Sins Not Tragedies. I appreciate the drama but like I always say, “Save the drama for your mama.” Ha!

• An album you played or listened to incessantly: Elvis Presley, Aloha From Hawaii. As a kid our stereo had an 8-track player and this was my favorite. I would listen and sing-a-long, of course, at least three times a week. I would even fall asleep to it.

• One obscure or non-country song everyone should listen to right now: Coldplay, “Lost.” This song moves me. I especially love the piano vocal version, which is the last track on Viva La Vida. As you persevere through life, you must learn to believe in yourself, and this song says that so eloquently.

The service can be ramped up for any station in two weeks or less, and Jacobs handles the work of rendering your logo for the iPhone and expediting the app through the iTunes store, which then gives your station a full promo page of branding.

The first clients are four Greater Media stations – three in markets with PPM currency – and Jacobs Media GM Paul Jacobs says the sign-up response by consumers has been “very strong” in its first two weeks. But what’s particularly strong is the potential payoff for stations with HD signals, as the app can present consumers with up to five channels from which to choose, as long as the stations are streaming in an mp3 codec.

Greater Media VP/Programming Buzz Knight told Country Aircheck last week (CAT 11/25) that while its lone Country station WKLB/Boston hasn't launched the service yet, “We’re definitely looking at it for the near future.”

As a special incentive to its own clients, Jacobs Media is offering a $100 discount those who sign up. Albright & O'Malley, which has a number of Country clients in station groups common with Jacobs, loves the app so much that it's offering its own clients a one-time $100 discount on their monthly fee if they order it. “We’re just doing it because we’re good people,” says Jaye Albright with a smile. “The only bad thing is that we didn’t think of it first.”

Pointing to an obvious opportunity for Country stations to get front-page real estate on the hottest consumer electronic device (now 20 million sold), Albright referred to a February A&O survey of 16,000+ Country consumers indicating that 74% of Country listeners are “somewhat or very” interested in iPods or mp3 players. Albright said a new survey will be out in early 2009, and expects similarly lopsided findings.

Conceived by JM President Fred Jacobs and Digital Strategist Tim Davis, the “One Touch” innovation connects virtually every link in the radio value chain: direct mobile access to a station, on-phone and on-site branding, digital radio linkage (without buying an HD receiver), another way for PPM to capture listening and a viable pocket competitor to pure Internet streamers. Paul Jacobs tells CA that they’re already working on interactive features and developing similar apps for other smartphones. For more details, visit www.jacobsiphone.com.
