NaSHoF Gala: All The Highlights

A tale of a tour prank gone wrong, a retro mullet and an AI joke from George Strait were among the surprises at last week's Nashville Songwriters Hall of Fame Gala at the Music City Center. Inductees were Shawn Camp, Bruce Channel, Lyle Lovett, Lee Thomas Miller, Taylor Swift and the late J.I. Allison, while Strait was on hand to receive the organization's Career Maker Award.

Swift's induction included a "Love Story" performance from Lainey Wilson that earned a standing ovation from the industry crowd, and a heartfelt intro from Brad Paisley, who noted that 36-year-old Swift is the Hall's youngest ever inductee, and called her "the voice of a generation" and "someone who has conquered the world and done it with song."

Swift started her speech by cooly expressing tongue-in-cheek surprise to see Paisley "because we've been estranged since 2007" when he "took a tour prank too far and filled my entire tour bus with live crickets, thousands of them. For months I couldn't sleep," she said, noting that she considered bringing a lizard on board at one point, before saying that Paisley's kind intro finally allowed her to "let bygones be bygones."

In a video intro, Swift said that as a songwriter, she's "drawn to consequences, mistakes and the passage of time." And in her live acceptance speech she expanded on her childhood realization about songwriting, that "even if it couldn't be my career, it would be my passion. It would be what I centered my entire life around." She recalled her first publishing deal with Sony at 14 and after-school writing sessions on Music Row, calling Nashville "this magical place ... There is no community like this music community," she said. "I know, I've checked." Later Swift added, "I've gotten to genre-hop and travel the world and write with so many different people and in so many different ways, and the only reason that I've been able to have that kind of dexterity in my creative process is because of the fundamentals and the foundation that I learned here in Nashville."

Q3 PPM Drivetime Leaders

Following the release of the September Nielsen PPM monthlies, Country Aircheck has analyzed Q3 numbers to determine the stations with leading shares and cumes in drivetimes. Quarterly averages eliminate the wobbles that can be present at a daypart level on a month-to-month basis. Additionally, with Cumulus no longer subscribing to Nielsen, several stations that previously landed on the leaderboards are longer shown in ratings releases. All figures are Persons 6+.

Mornings: KKBQ/Houston's Q Morning Show with Andy "Riggs" Riggle, Katelyn Maida and Erica Rico takes the cume crown for the second time in the past year with 313,400 persons. After claiming the top spot for the first time last quarter, KKGO/Los Angeles' Bruce Scott slips to second, while WUSN/Chicago's Melissa McGurren and Austin Huff, remain in third. KILT/Houston and WXTU/Philadelphia round out the top five.

In the share category, WCTK/Providence's Courtney Kelley and Brendan Sharp, who tied with WWYZ/Hartford's Damon Scott and Amanda Jo Parker for first place last quarter, remain tied at the top, but tied with WCOL/Columbus' Zuko & Kayla this time. WWYZ missed creating a three-way tie by just one tenth of a share. WUBE/Cincinnati and KEEY/Minneapolis repeat in fourth and fifth places respectively.

Afternoons: With a cume of 419,100, WUSN's Scotty Kay makes it two straight atop the cume ranker in afternoons and has topped the category in five of the last six quarters. KKBQ's Lauren "Lo" Sessions and KKGO's Adam Bookbinder swap second and third places from last quarter, while KILT's new afternoon host Erin Austin and WYCD/Detroit's Rob & Holly similarly swap fourth and fifth.

In the share category, the top three remain unchanged, with WWYZ's Brandon Clay at the top with a 10.8 share, followed by WCTK's Kevin Lawrence and WUBE's Big Dave Show. The remainder of the top 10 is almost entirely shuffled with four new entrants this quarter. See the 2026 Q2 leaders here, Q1 here, 2025 Q4 here and Q3 here. –Chris Huff

Chart Chat

Congratulations to Morgan Wallen, Tyler Waugh, Lauren "LT" Thomas and the Big Loud promotion team on holding "Been By Now" at No. 1 for a second week. Wallen has now spent 39 weeks at the top, ranking 19th in R&R/CA/MB chart history. Songwriters are Rocky Block, John Byron, Ryan Vojtesak, Blake Pendergrass, Taylor Phillips and Wallen.

The Big Loud crew also tops this week's CA/MB Add Board with 96 adds for "By God" by Hardy; his sixth release to top the CA/MB Add Board.

Songwriters Gary Nicholson and Dean Dillon paid tribute to Strait, whose Career Maker Award (given only once before – to Reba McEntire in 2018) recognizes stars whose contributions have helped songwriters achieve NaSHoF-worthy careers. In Strait's more than four-decade run, he has recorded 264 songs written or co-written by 72 NaSHOF songwriters, 44 of whom were not in the Hall at the time he first cut their songs. Longtime collaborator Dillon said of Strait, "It has been a dream to have him hang with me this long."

George Strait

Lyle Lovett

Thomas Lee Miller

Bruce Channel

Shawn Camp

Joanie Allison

The famously reticent Strait claimed he'd promised to come to the ceremony "only if I could make a speech. You know how good I am at that," then joked that he'd written one with the assistance of "my new friend Chat. We're best buddies now." On a more serious note, Strait said of his award, "I think they've got this turned around, because [the songwriters] made my career, not the other way around."

Pat Alger introduced Lovett, calling his songs "literate, sophisticated, but full of witty irony." Kathy Mattea sang "If I Had A Boat" in tribute. Lovett noted that seeing Swift with her parents and Strait with his son Bubba at the ceremony reminded him how much his own parents supported his dreams and career. Likewise, he said "This music community in Nashville is a family, and I'm humbled just to be in the room."

A video montage in the intro for Miller got the crowd laughing with the inclusion of two early career shots of him with a mullet. Jamey Johnson sang "In Color" (confessing that his own color blindness partly inspired the song he wrote with Miller), and Alabama's Randy Owen inducted Miller, thanking him for always making himself available for charity events, especially those on behalf of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

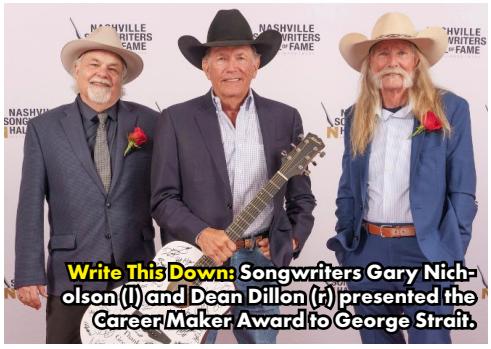

Acknowledging Owen – and the hairdo – Miller said, "The first time I heard [Alabama's] 'Tennessee River,' I lost my mind, bought a fiddle and apparently grew a mullet." In his funny and often poignant speech, Miller began by thanking his wife, Jana, for agreeing to come second to the music, which he called "an ethereal shapeless, sometimes cruel god with a small g that has owned me." He spoke about the four days he spent as Tom T. Hall's fiddle player before being fired and thanked "the record companies who rejected me [as an] artist" for setting him on the proper path to a songwriting career. He recalled Charlie Daniels sharing his best Nashville career advice in mock Latin, "illegitimi non carborundum," which Daniels translated as "Don't let the bastards drag you down."

Miller thanked NSAI, for whom he serves as Board Pres., for "believing I could lead, then suiting me up and putting me on the front lines of copyright wars we never should have had to fight ... Sending me into big rooms to fight the breathing Goliaths that profit from our music by relentlessly trying to lower our world to rates."

Miller also acknowledged radio, saying, "I love the radio. I am a product of the radio. Radio from three-and-a-half inch dashboard speakers of old farm trucks introduced me to the cracks of bats and the roars of the crowds, to steel guitars and whiskey-soaked stories written somewhere far away. Simple, perfect melodies with two compressed drums and haunted fiddles, disembodied otherworldly voices, some of which are in this room tonight. The radio was everything. The song is everything."

All Too Well: Brad Paisley (l) and Lainey Wilson (r) honored inductee Taylor Swift.

Write This Down: Songwriters Gary Nicholson (l) and Dean Dillon (r) presented the Career Maker Award to George Strait.

Lee Roy Parnell performed "Hey! Baby" and close friend Kix Brooks introduced Channel (the godfather of Brooks' daughter), noting how Channel, then "a huge international star," took a young Brooks "under his wing, not as a co-writer, but as the welcoming committee for people who didn't know what the hell they were doing" in Nashville. Brooks called it "embarrassing" that he was inducted into NaSHoF before ehis friend.

Channel opened his speech by noting, "I really thought I'd be frightened but I'm not, I'm terrified" and ended it by noting, "To be with your friends and your heroes [in the Hall] is a wonderful thing."

Jim Lauderdale inducted Camp, saying, "If you ever write with Shawn, you just hold onto him while he jets forward and lets you come along." Emmylou Harris and Verlon Thompson sang "Magnolia Wind" in his honor. Camp's speech was a series of thank yous, including one to the recently departed John Anderson, "for always going above and beyond to help me in this business."

The late Allison was introduced by journalist Robert K. Oermann and tributed in song by former BR549 member Chuck Mead, who sang "That'll Be The Day" before Allison's widow, Joanie Allison, accepted on his behalf. The evening also included an In Memoriam segment that paid tribute to longtime Gala host Bill Cody, and eight NaSHoF members who died in the last year: Anderson, Walt Alridge, Rory Bourke, Steve Cropper, Jim McBride, Joe Melson, Dolly Parton and Don Schlitz, while member Rivers Rutherford performed his co-written "When I Get Where I'm Going" in their memory.

September 2026 CDM Scoreboard

Here are September 2026 (three-month rolling average, 6/25-9/16) Nielsen Audio Continuous Diary Measurement (CDM) ratings results listed alphabetically by market. Total shares among subscribers in CDM markets on a same-station basis were up 0.2% from August to 311.9. With its largest share since 2018, WBBS/Syracuse claimed the largest share in the format for the first time since monthly measurement began seven years ago. A "+" indicates a Classic Country outlet; a "t" indicates a tie.

Hudson Westbrook Made You Look (River House/WRN)
Notching credits as a writer on every song of his sophomore set, Westbrook worked with writing partners including Lukas Scott, Neil Medley, Beau Bailey, Joybeth Taylor, Ryan Beaver, Reid Haughton, Nicolette Hayford, Dan Alley, Kenny Whitmire, and Marv Green. "Made You Look is a reflection of everything I've been through the last two years of my life on a record," he says.

Craig Morgan My Country (BBRMG)
The 11-song album includes "Long May You Wave," a cover of Toby Keith's "American Soldier" and new titles "I'm Country Music" and "The Will."

Dylan Marlowe (SMN/Play It Again Music)
"I've had a lot of growth over this past year and I've felt this freedom to really dig into all the creative inspirations that I have, with a lot of that being from the pop punk world where the melodies are just so infectious," he says. "There's a lot of storytelling on this record too, which is a big part of my creative process, but I also wanted people to be able to just put this album on and experience it in more of a lighthearted way."

Ashley Cooke Wrapped (Back Blocks/Big Loud)
In addition to classic holiday songs "Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas," "Jingle Bell Rock" and "Silent Night (With The Cooke family)," the EP includes original songs "Wrapped" and "Secret Santa."

Mack Geiger Dying In This House (Records Nashville/Columbia)
"Dying In This House channels a broken man's walk through loneliness, heartache, denial, but also glimmers of hope," says Geiger. "I've always been drawn to songs which painted pictures. I feel like this album does that. Furthermore, songs that explore brokenness, because despite our constant endeavour to achieve outside flawlessness, each one of us experience battles that push us further than we can bend."

LoCash My Kinda Christmas (Galaxy)
The Christmas EP includes three original songs ("My Kinda Christmas," "Snow Angel" and "Over The River"), as well as the duo's take on "Santa Claus Is Comin' to Town" and "O Holy Night."

MaRynn Taylor Dropout (Black River)
The five-song project looks back at the eight years since Taylor dropped out of high school and moved to Nashville at 17, touching on "the mistakes, relationships and growing pains that shaped her along the way."

Sam Barber The Outlier (Atlantic Outpost)
Produced by Joe Becker, the follow-up to Broken View consists of six new tracks.

Maddie Font Drive Me Around (Faith Over Tide)
Font co-penned all four songs on her debut solo EP, including "'When a Woman Stops Crying." "[It] was such a healing song for me to write," she says. "I was walking through a heartbreaking season in my own life, and somewhere along the way, I finally made it to the other side of that pain."
