Remembering Dolly Parton

Colleagues share favorite memories of the late Dolly Parton (Chronicle 8/25):

Results Global's John Zarling: Dolly and I were catching up at a Spotify content taping in early 2019, and she was surprised to learn I was no longer with Sony (her label at the time). She asked me why – and I simply said “You!” She smiled, looked at me intently, and said, “Sometimes you have to change dreams in the middle of the stream.” She grabbed my hand and we walked into the studio.

With Joe Galante

With Olly Rowland

Then-RCA promotion exec Joe Galante: My boss Jerry Bradley told me Dolly was going to promote a show by riding the Long Island Railroad and singing a few songs on a flatbed train car. We'd met, but this was my first time going out with her and we started at 7am to catch all the people going to work. At each station she'd get out there in full outfit, makeup and hair – sing perfectly, then come back in the car and we'd have a great conversation on the way to the next stop. I'd never met anyone who did anything with that much joy. That day cemented our relationship for many years to come.

When she did the cover of Playboy, I bought 200 copies and had the covers signed and framed for radio stations, the trades and all the accounts. I didn't realize it, but she left one for me, too, that referenced all the times I had to call her in from personal time to do something. She wrote, “To Joe, For every vacation you've screwed up, you've made up for it in a million ways. Love you, Dolly. PS: I'm glad I got that off my chest.” [Ed. Note: Emphasis hers.]

CTK Enterprises' Olly Rowland: Dolly never wanted to bother anyone at a hotel, whether it was us or room service – especially at odd hours. She always asked for a few meals and breakfast plates she could heat up herself if she woke up early. So I was showing her around her room in Frisco, TX for the ACM Awards, including the items stocked in the fridge – one of which was her favorite dessert, banana pudding. She broke down laughing at how I said it, as I'm British, then tried to mimic me: “Bah-nah-nah pudding.” That became a running joke and, if we ever needed a laugh, I'd just say “banana pudding” and it would set her off again.

CMA's Sarah Trahern: The night before Dolly was scheduled to shoot a promo

Source Honors Six

Hosted by media personality Kelly Sutton and artist Mandy Barnett, the 23rd annual Source Nashville Hall of Fame dinner carried special meaning on the evening of Dolly Parton's passing last week (8/25). As Sutton said, “Even though we're sad, her spirit is in this room and lives on in every one of us as we celebrate women in music.”

First honoree Debbie Carroll, currently the Exec. Dir. for Belmont's Center for Mental Health in Entertainment, received a video tribute from Michael McDonald, who praised her as someone who “dedicated their life and built their career out of being of service to others.” He called all of this year's inductees “the backbone of the music industry in Nashville, and we owe them much.” Carroll, who started out as a therapist, spoke about how people trusting her during their most vulnerable times in every facet of her career has been “an honor and a privilege.”

CBS Records/Sony/Warner/AFM Local 257's Paige Conners' video tribute came from producer Paul Worley, with whom she worked at two labels and his Paul Worley Productions before she joined the Nashville Musicians Association in 2016. Worley told Conners, “Your superpower has always been your care and concern for others.” Addressing all of the honorees, Worley said, “The women are the ones who make the trains run on time and always have been. Now they are taking more of a leadership role, and they deserve it.”

Warner Records Nashville's Cris Lacy was honored by Porter's Call founder Al Andrews, who said in their first meeting Lacy expressed a desire to “encourage artists toward better mental health, and over the years I've watched [her] do just that.” He added that her care for artists will be her “legacy.” “Unless you're an artist, we all choose to live in service to someone else's story,” Lacy said. “So I want to thank Source for giving the supporting characters a spot center stage.” She went on to thank “everyone who's ever taken a chance on me ... and all of the artists who trusted me with their most sacred possession: their music.”

Margie McGahey started her career in radio at WORM/Savannah, TN before spending 35 years with WSM and the Grand Ole Opry. She received a video tribute from Bill Anderson, who praised her passion for her job and called her "an evangelist, spreading the gospel of the Grand Ole Opry and WSM." In her brief speech, McGahey said, "It's a wonderful business we're in. Let's just keep having fun."

Sherry Oakley joined BMI two days after her high school graduation, and spent her entire 54-year career there. She was credited with being the first person in the company's Nashville office to use a computer. Oakley nodded to the late BMI CEO Frances Preston for teaching her to treat every songwriter "as if they have the next No. 1 hit, because they might." Oakley also thanked Source for recognizing women behind the scenes in the music business when "nobody even knows they exist," telling the group, "Keep doing this, because it's highly important."

Big Yellow Dog's Carla Wallace was introduced by Sutton as having "an extraordinary ability to discover talent in its most raw stages." One such talent, Meghan Trainor, called Wallace "my queen" in a video introduction, noting, "She's believed in me since I was 17 years old" and "leads with her heart." In her speech, Wallace joked that she "always gravitated toward underdogs and outsiders ... most of them are former boyfriends, but that's another speech." She also noted that it, "Feels good to stand up here and tell my mama I made it."

Chart Chat

Congratulations to Kane Brown, Dennis Reese, Mallory Michaels and the RCA promotion team on taking "Woman" to No. 1. This is Brown's 14th visit to the top spot. Songwriters are John Byron, Ashley Gorley, Ben Johnson, Taylor Phillips and Brown.

Kudos to Lee Adams and the Broken Bow crew on scoring 13 adds for "Anytime Soon" by Jason Aldean to return it to the top of the CA/MB Add Board.

Country radio airplay following Dolly Parton's passing was unprecedented. She was the 11th most played artist in the format in the past week, with 79 different songs amassing 6,613 spins across the panel, an increase of more than 26,000% from 25 spins last week. The three most-played Parton songs were among the 10 most played gold titles for the week: No. 3 "9 To 5," No. 5 "Jolene" and No. 9 "I Will Always Love You." Had they been currents, both "9 To 5" and "Jolene" would have landed in this week's Top 50.

Parton's chart history began before the introduction of the R&R chart in 1973. On Dec. 21 of that year, in the chart's 11th week, "Jolene" debuted at No. 8 on what was then a 20-position list. She went on to make 63 more appearances on the R&R/Country Aircheck/MB Country chart, with 14 of those reaching No. 1 for a total of 29 weeks at the top, giving her the third most weeks at No. 1 among all female vocalists, behind only Reba and Carrie Underwood. Perhaps most telling of Parton's impact is the fact that those No. 1s landed across four decades, from "Here You Come Again" in 1977 to "When I Get Where I'm Going" with Brad Paisley in 2006. She is one of only six artists to land No. 1s in four decades, joined by Garth Brooks, Kenny Chesney, Tim McGraw, Reba and George Strait.

News & Notes

for the 50th CMA Awards' "Forever Country" video, her team tried to move the date as they feared it would be an all-day affair. She was the only artist scheduled and the director and crew flew in from L.A. just for her, so they agreed to keep the 7am shoot if we could get her out in 15 minutes. Having worked with her before, we told the crew to be there early. She arrived around 6:30am in full glam, hit her mark and nailed it – including a sweet wink to the camera at the end – and was out the door at 6:45am. Well before her call time.

Someone on her team shared that her urgency arose from wanting to take her husband Carl to breakfast. No fuss, no complaints about the hour, just total professionalism wrapped around the fact that nothing was going to get in the way of that breakfast. That's Dolly in a nutshell to me. She could deliver at the highest level, in any situation, at any hour, and never once let the work supplant what mattered most. A lot of people talk about her work ethic. Fewer people saw how disciplined she was about protecting her personal life right alongside it.

Results Global's Jackie Campbell: The first time I met Dolly in person was Feb. 2020 on a music video set. Someone handed me a phone to take their picture with Dolly. As I was backing up to get the shot – apparently straight into an outdoor propane heater – Dolly yelled at me to stop, saving me from catching my hair, and potentially my entire body, on fire. It's funny to think no one else noticed before she did, but that was Dolly – ever observant, kind, and thinking of other people first.

Big Machine's Scott Borchetta: When we were doing the Rockstar album, management called eight days before release because Dolly wanted to visit stores to see where the album would be positioned before it came out. And she wants to start at 4am. Okay! So the team started dialing up the accounts: Walmart, Target, Barnes & Noble, Cracker Barrel and Dollar General. Each manager, said, "You're bringing Dolly Parton? Yes, we'll be in early." So there we were at 4am at the Walmart in Cool Springs. The first thing she did is go to the music section, pick up the album and start mugging for the cameras. Target was next, and she had it all so thought out. Three guys from her team held up a curtain for her to change behind so she had a different look at each store. At Barnes & Noble, she saw a Dolly doll, picked it up and turned to us to say, "Is there anything we don't sell?" She charmed everyone, took pictures with all the managers and staff and the whole thing was signed, sealed and delivered by 8am. And it was the biggest first-week sales of her career. Ironically, her last three No. 1 records were all on the Mainstream Rock charts.

Then-BMLG's Mike Rittberg and Scott Borchetta with the Rockstar

Dolly~
You inspired me for
as long as I can remember.
You changed my life.
I will always love you.
♥ Belles

“Son of Jolene” is now much more than another beautiful addition to Parton’s discography — it stands as both a proverbial farewell and a passing of the torch to a new generation of women in country music.” - People

Producer Robert Deaton: Dolly called me out of the blue in 1991, having liked some of the music videos I'd done. She wanted to work with me and George Flanigen on the "Silver And Gold" video. Usually, once you start working with an artist, you kind of forget "who they are," but I could never shake that with her. Even after all the years and multiple videos, the fact that Dolly was in the room never wore off.

Having worked with her musically for so long, when she hosted the CMA Awards I saw a completely different side. Of course, she's incredibly professional. Early. Open and extremely nice to everyone in the room. But also very pointedly there to work. What I learned, though, is how creatively spontaneous she was. She would come up with jokes on the spot one after another. You think you've seen everything, but then you see that.

Results Global's Katrina Maddox: My mom tells me I was completely uninterested in watching anything on TV as a toddler, until I discovered The Dolly Show, her 1980s variety show. Whenever the opening song "Love Is Like a Butterfly" came on, I would plop down in front of the TV and stay there until it was over. I was enamored. Not long after, I attended my first concert: Dolly and Porter Wagoner on the Grand Ole Opry. We were close to the front, and my mom was holding me up when Dolly looked down and winked at me from the stage. Fast-forward a couple of decades, and I found myself working for the Opry and lucky enough to witness several unforgettable Dolly moments. Eventually, I met my hero and she was just as magical in person.

ACM CEO Emeritus Damon Whiteside: When she co-hosted the ACM Awards in Texas with Garth Brooks, I was sitting in the house watching her rehearsal. When it wrapped, her manager Danny Nozell walked over and said, "Dolly wants to speak to you." I was shocked and immediately started worrying that something was wrong. She had a quick-change tent to the side of the stage, which Danny opened and gestured for me to go in. I remember being struck by how surreal it was. Dolly Parton! But there she was, and she said, "I've heard how hard you've worked on making all this happen, and I really wanted to tell you how much I appreciate all your efforts for this show. I'm excited about it." That kind of thing almost never happens. For her to make a point to say that to me ... I'll remember it for the rest of my life.

With Jackie Campbell

With Katrina Maddox

A lot of work went into the script, and she was involved every step of the way. Once dress rehearsal is over, the script is considered locked, and that's the one they put in the prompter. But I guess as she was getting ready for the live show, she kept making changes in her mind. That's how the famous "GOAT" joke happened, which she said stood for "Garth Organizes A Threesome." Nobody knew that was coming, which is why Garth and Trisha were both bright red when she said it. No one but Dolly could pull that off.

Consultant/writer Maurice Miner: When I was working with Dolly and her sister Rachel on Good Lookin' Cookin', Rachel said something that summed up so much of what we know of Dolly: "If she made a dime, she sent home a nickel." She went on to add, "Whatever she has, she is more than willing to share – and does. Maybe that's why God graced her with so much talent."

Another time, Dolly and I were pouring through edits and revisions of what would become Star of the Show. Somewhere around the point where the book noted her meeting Queen Elizabeth and guesting on a Cher TV special, I remarked how truly amazing it is to think of the places she'd been and the people she'd met. I was having a "moment" of feeling being one step away from so much history via the woman sitting next to me. She sat up in her chair, removed her glasses, looked me straight in the eye and said, "You know, it really is. I never could've imagined it." I'll never forget feeling like I'd been given a glimpse of Dolly seeing herself as we do.

UMPG/Nashville's Troy Tomlinson: I showed up early to the 2007 Songwriters Hall of Fame ceremony at New York's Marriott Marquis, but there was nobody at the check-in tables and I started to worry I'd missed it. So I opened the door to the ballroom and at the very front I see a handful of people and a head that looks like it belongs to Dolly, who was getting an award. As I walked down there, her producer Steve Buckingham saw me, invited me over and introduced us. Dolly said, "You sound country. Sit down here. Where are you from?" I told her I was from Portland, TN. She replied, "Exit 117 on I-65; last town before you go into Kentucky." I asked her how in the world she knew that. "Honey, do you know how many times I've been sitting on a bus looking out the window on Interstate 65 to go play for people up north? I memorized every mile marker." I heard this said and I think it's true: If you didn't love Dolly, you're probably incapable of loving anyone.

Remembering Dolly

"I'm really okay if my feed never goes back to normal," wrote Kacey Musgraves on X. "It's not doom-scrolling it's Dolly-scrolling."

Mötley Crüe @MotleyCrue · 6d

Working with Dolly on "Home Sweet Home" was one of the true highlights of our career. We can still hear her voice saying, "Well, how about that, Dolly and Mötley at #1?"

Thank you for the music, the laughter, the kindness and the inspiration, Dolly.

Our deepest condolences to her family, friends, and fans around the world.

With love and respect,
Mötley Crüe

Blake Shelton @blakeshelton · 6d

I can say with absolute certainty that we are all feeling the same heart brokenness today. I only got to spend any real time with Dolly when Gwen and I got to work with her on The Voice. I want everyone to know that she was the EXACT person that you think she is. It was like being with the funnest, most loving, most caring and closest member of your family. Truly a loss for the entire world. We love you Dolly.

noahcyrus i wanted the first words you heard to come from miley, and now that she's spoken, i'd like to share a few words about dolly.

dolly was singular, one of a kind. dolly was a rainbow to our world for nearly six decades, and no one could ever come nor will ever come close to replacing her. her impact on the world, and on me as an artist, is unparalleled. she was an angel among us who not only wrote songs that spoke to us all, but whose kindness, compassion, and empathy toward those who truly needed it were at the core of who dolly was. she never forgot where she came from, and she never stopped being her true self. she made it her duty to help others, not only through her music, but through her kindness and her commitment to helping those in need.

her beautiful relationship with my family, especially my sister, is one i will be grateful for my entire life. i am so grateful for her for inspiring me to be who i am, wear those wigs, have those long nails, to write my stories, and to heal people through music.

i am heartbroken she is gone, but only physically. she came into this world, shared her light, and changed it forever. she will now live in our hearts, and her music will continue to be a friend when lonely, and to celebrate with happiness. it will inspire and encourage young songwriters that will discover and learn from the Great Dolly Parton.

Dolly, you got your wings. we will ALWAYS love you. 🦋🦋🦋 bradpaisley I never imagined this day would come. Getting to know Dolly was life changing, but not just for me. For everyone.

She seemed immortal.

And in the spirit of what we sang together on this song, I believe she is.

It won't be the same down here without you Dolly. But what a legacy of goodness and art you leave for all of us.

Goodbye hero. We will always love you.

Trisha Yearwood @trishayearwood · 5d

There aren't words to describe what you mean to the world, Dolly. What I do know is that you have always been a light, and now you are shining brighter than we can imagine. Our job now is to keep that light alive. WWDD? Love one another. You walked the walk. To say your energy in this life will be missed is an understatement. We will always love you.

reesewitherspoon I count my lucky stars that I called Dolly my friend. When I was playing June Carter Cash in Walk the Line, she took me to dinner and told me stories of how June Carter charmed everyone in country music. Dolly gave me the courage to put my whole spirit into that performance and made me see how lucky I was to be a storyteller. Throughout my entire career, she sent me little notes of encouragement and support, telling me to be the light in people's lives and listen to my angels. Always signed: "I will always love you." 🦋

Dolly, I miss you already. Your talent, your wisdom and your beautiful spirit lit up our lives. Go soar with your angels.... We will always love you. ❤️

Randy Quaid @RandyRRQuaid · 4d

Dolly Parton made the best chicken and dumplings I ever ate. On lunch break she would knock on my trailer door with melt-in-your-mouth dumplings, biscuits, gravy, green beans. Every day it was a southern feast. I had never seen an actor actually use the cooking facilities in their trailer before but she had it all going on. I still have Dolly's Tupperware...

Vince Gill @VGcom · 5d

We are all crushed here at our house. One of the most beautiful sounds I've ever heard was when Dolly and I sang that last note of 'I Will Always Love You' the year we performed it on the CMA Awards.

- Vince Gill

Marshall Mathers @Eminem · 6d

I'm sorry we never got a chance to meet, but getting this note from Dolly really had an impact on me. She definitely didn't have to take the time to do it. Even for a kid who mostly listened to rap music, she was an icon. A superstar in every sense. Rest easy Dolly. And thank you for the kind words.

Marshall (Eminem),

Congratulations on your induction into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. Your performance was amazing and everybody said so. Even though I don't know a lot about rap music, I've come to know that you are the very best at it. Aside from that I hope what I have to say will not seem weird or strange to you but I have always felt some unexplained connection to you like I know you somehow. I had hoped to meet you at the show but you know how nuts those things are, personally I hate 'em and I missed my chance but maybe someday we'll meet. In the meantime, keep doing what you're doing because you do it so well and no matter how complex your world may be just know you are very special and touch people in ways you don't even know.

With love & respect,
Dolly Parton

carrieunderwood She's not gone. I know exactly where she is. She was the epitome of faith, grace, talent, beauty and humor. She had a humble heart for Jesus and made everyone around her feel special. She was probably the one person on planet Earth that everyone loved and could agree on. She was a one of one and no one will ever come close. It's alright to be sad that this world lost a legend, but heaven gained an angel. Well done, good and faithful Dolly. Welcome home. ❤️🦋

Ben Stiller @BenStiller · 5d

Dolly Parton memory: her being incredibly nice and cool to EVERYONE when I was on SNL in 1988 as a featured player/apprentice writer and wrote a sketch for her and me that bombed at readthrough and she totally sold it as it bombed and was so kind about it and I never met her again but always wanted to thank her for being so cool and making me and everyone feel special.

What an icon, and for so long. A person who emanated goodness, and of course, a brilliant songwriter and performer. Sending love to her family and friends. ❤️

Jimmy Fallon @jimmyfallon · 6d
I was lucky enough to know and work with the one and only Dolly Parton. She was a phenomenal guest on the show; always funny and always made everyone she met feel like a million dollars. We did duets together, laughed together and danced through Dollywood in the Smoky Mountains of Pigeon Forge. And even though we did all that, I would still get butterflies just being in her presence. And that's kind of what I think of when I think of Dolly. She's a butterfly. Beautiful. Magical. Dreamy. And like most butterflies, they stay for a moment - captivate you, fascinate you, mesmerize you and then fly away far too soon. I love you Dolly. I will always miss you.

Pitbull @pitbull · 5d
Tonight we celebrate Dolly Parton...the living legend, or should I say the legend that lives forever.

We love you, Dolly.

Shania Twain @Shania... · 5d
Dolly was pure light sent from heaven. My mentor is gone. My songwriting teacher and hero of grace and humility. There is a hole in my heart but the joy of just the thought of her smile will continue to fill me with inspiration for as long as I live. I will cherish this moment performing Coat Of Many Colors with Dolly forever. Goodbye Dolly. Rest in peace, beautiful angel.

Miley Cyrus @MileyCyrus · 5d
The feeling of losing my Aunt Dolly is beyond what feels right to share. Our most sacred moments were private and they'll stay there behind the stage, beneath the glamour & between our hearts.

What I KNOW is Dolly would want me to feel it, write a song about it, and then continue on and be strong. I have an angel by my side. I always have. One of our last conversations was about music and metamorphosis.

I will always love her and want to make her proud. My heart breaks for the world, her family and friends who will miss her deeply. We're in this loss together and we will see her in all of the most beautiful things.

KidRock @KidRock · 6d
Quite simply The G.O.A.T

Thanks for the songs, the laughs, the humility and grace.

Without a doubt a woman who God truly has his hands on.

Rock on Dolly, baby rock on.

Carly Pearce @carlypearce · 6d
I've said often in my life, "What will the world be without Dolly?" From the time I was a little girl, I wanted to be just like her. At 15 years old, my family uprooted their lives so I could start chasing my dreams, working in the country show at Dollywood. Since then, I've had the privilege of not only working with Dolly, but getting to know her. She was exactly who we all hoped she would be — kind, funny, gracious, and one of a kind. Heaven got a whole lot sassier, funnier, and brighter today. I will do my part as a woman in country music to continue carrying the light she shined so brightly for all of us. I love you, @DollyParton. - forever your little @Dollywood girl

Reba McEntire @reba · 6d
Well, I just got the news that my buddy Dolly passed onto the higher and greater side.

Dolly, thank you for all the wonderful things you did for us here on earth.

Your love, your music and you gave so much with your huge huge heart.

There will never ever be another you. We will remember and cherish every memory and every note you ever played and sang.

Thank you, Lord, for Dolly. She's gonna have a blast in heaven singing all her favorite songs with all her family and friends who have gone on before her.

I'll never forget the first time I met you and I'll never forget our last conversation. I hold it with love in my heart.

I will always love you, Reba oprah One of my fondest memories with @dollyparton: Having a hoot and a holler while wearing Bob Mackie gowns on her show Dolly.

This girl from the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee dreamed a life and then lived a life bigger than she could have ever imagined, giving so generously to others in ways we saw and ways we didn't.

No one like her. She brought the light, and we are all better because she was here.

God bless you, Dolly—you earned your wings

Mick Jagger @MickJagger · 6d
What a wonderful songwriter and singer Dolly was. She brought so many people together, we will all miss her so much.

Jason Aldean @Jason_Aldean · 5d
Sad to hear of the passing of @DollyParton today. The term "legend" gets thrown around a lot these days but she really was. An icon to the entire entertainment industry, especially the Country Music family. I had the privilege being around her a few times over the years and she was truly a bright light that shined just a little brighter than anyone else in the room. It's always sad when one of our heroes passes away, but the beauty in music is that her art will live on forever. Rest easy Dolly and thank you for the contributions you made and the doors you kicked down for all of us that came after you.

Lanie Garner Faded Polaroids (Deluxe) (BBRMG)

Alongside the album's original 18 tracks, Gardner worked with Kristian Bush on the deluxe edition to expand it with three new songs: "You Ain't My Daddy," "Bye Bye" and "Say It Sober."

Dan Alley Keepin' On (River House)

Alley penned or co-penned every song on the project, collaborating with writers including Neil Medley, Ryan Beaver, Kasey Tyndall and Sam Banks, and solo-writing five cuts. "Keepin' On is the project I've wanted to make since moving to Nashville," says Alley. "These songs tell the story of my life: chasing a dream, heartbreak, falling in love, marriage, becoming a dad, getting sober and learning how to make a living as a songwriter."
