Radio Picks ACM's "Winners"

If you ask radio programmers (and we did), the big winners at last night's ACM Awards were not just record-setting honoree Ella Langley and Entertainer and Male Artist winner Cody Johnson, but the state of Texas as well. The latter came in part from native son Parker McCollum's Album win,

Steve Stewart

Lo Sessions-Barker

Johnson's wins and performance, and performances from fellow Lone Star State natives Miranda Lambert and Kacey Musgraves, all coupled with Alabaman Langley's Single and Song of the Year wins for the aptly named "Choosin' Texas."

"It was a huge night for Texas," says WWKA/Orlando PD Steve Stewart, who wonders, "Is this the beginning of a nationwide Texas Country revival?" KKBQ/Houston APD/MD Lo Sessions-Barker agrees that "seeing artists like Cody and Ella have major moments was incredible, but as someone from the Houston area, it was especially awesome watching the hometown kid from Conroe, Parker McCollum, win big and proudly shout out Montgomery County and Texas Red Dirt music on that stage. It was really cool to see so much Texas representation shine in Las Vegas."

Radio appreciated the show's many empowering moments for female performers. "I'm over the moon with Ella sweeping," says WQDR/Raleigh APD/MD Abby Leigh. "This is monumental for women in country music. Her acceptance speech for Female Artist made me tear up. I also loved how she tipped her hat to the other amazing women in that category. Carter Faith's performance completely blew me away! She's an incredible talent and I can't wait to see her rise. Overall, such a great show."

"It's Ella's world, and we live in it," says WGNE/Jacksonville PD Brian Jordan, who called the show "great," and gave host Shania Twain high marks, joking that "her costume designer should have received an award for all the change-outs."

Q1 CDM Drivetime Leaders

Following the analysis of the format's Q1 drive-time leaders in PPM markets last month, Country Aircheck has also compiled Country's top performers for the quarter from Nielsen Audio's 44 Continuous Diary Measurement (CDM) markets. Cumulus no longer subscribes to Nielsen, so several notable stations, including WIVK/Knoxville and WKKO/Toledo, no longer appear.

There was total consensus among the top three, as WDRM/Huntsville, WHKO/Dayton and KXKT/Omaha swept mornings and afternoons, as well as the full week overall (see Scoreboard, page 4). WDRM's Spencer Graves Show leads morning drive for the first time thanks to a 7.1 to 12.3 jump. Also landing with double-digit shares, WHKO's Nancy Wilson and Aaron "Woody" Woods, and KXKT's Steve Lundy and Gina Melton, who all hold on to the same positions they held in the previous quarter.

Last quarter, the 6.6 share for WDRM's Wayne & Tay ("Wayne D Danielson and Tay Hamilton) didn't even land them in the top 10. But a leap of 5.3 shares landed them at the Q1 pinnacle and placed them more than a share ahead of second place WHKO, with its new afternoon host Shane Collins. KXKT's Erik "EJ" Johnson rounds out the top three, falling just shy of a double-digit share. Previous results here: Q4, Q3 and Q2 2024. -Chris Huff

OFF THE RECORD

CARYL DIXON

Independent artist Caryl Dixon is taking a page out of Loretta Lynn's early playbook. She's been driving to visit radio stations on her own (or sometimes with her boyfriend and dogs in tow) to promote current single "Bird In A Cage" and upcoming EP Accidental Cowgirl. Jointly based in Nashville and State College, PA, the self-managed artist first did a batch of Tennessee station visits (see video of those stops here), recently wrapped up a Midwest run, and is eyeing Georgia and the East Coast next.

I know a lot of people these days don't do radio, they just focus on streaming, but meeting the DJs and programmers in person has been amazing. To be honest, I didn't realize how impactful radio was until I started researching it. Some of the DJs and programmers shared their morning listener counts and they just floored me. I'm so happy so many people still listen. Everyone I've met along this journey has been so friendly, kind and welcoming, and really excited to hear my story.

Radio broadcasters were sometimes surprised when I walked in with no entourage. When they found out my boyfriend was in the car, they'd invite him in and I'd have to explain that he's out there with two dogs, one of whom doesn't like men, especially men wearing flannel. Sometimes they'd come out to the car to pet them, or give us directions to dog parks.

I'm a people person, so I love to make those human connections. I think they're lost in the streaming and digital age. I was in Boscobel, WI, and stopped in a little bar & grill. I was all dressed up in my cowgirl gear, so when the bartender found out I was on a radio tour they invited me back that night to guest host a karaoke contest. When I returned, the entire town was in the bar, including the mayor. To me, that's what hitting the road is all about, meeting the people. My radio stop the next morning was 35 minutes away, and when I arrived the programmer told me they'd already gotten a call about me from Boscobel.

A friend of mine from State College was babysitting for [former Warner Music Nashville Chair and Hey Now Records co-founder] John Esposito, and asked him if he'd listen to my demo, so I had to go make one. He invited me to Nashville to meet with him a few weeks before he retired [from Warner,] and gave me the rundown of the town and how it worked, and was very encouraging. He changed my life. We still stay in touch.

I didn't really know what I was getting into when I was invited to attend the [WFGE] Big Froggy 101/State College-sponsored Mac & Cheese Festival, but they put me in a VIP line with Miss Pennsylvania, and it was super fun. That hometown station has been very supportive. I'm severely dairy intolerant, but I caved and tried all the mac & cheese anyway.

The Accidental Cowgirl EP, due out June 12, is an autobiographical story of resilience, pulling yourself up by your bootstraps and stepping into what you were meant to be. It's also a little sassy and fun. I'm very lucky to have this life, because I was forced to quit music for a long time and thought it was done. So, coming back to it and having so many radio stations showing support has been a blessing. I'm really hoping to inspire people to never give up on their dreams.

KBEQ/Kansas City MD Codie Allen "absolutely loved the show," especially Langley's Female Artist acceptance speech. KSSN/Little Rock PD Jess Jennings calls the show "so much fun to watch! It truly felt like Ella Langley's night, and I loved seeing CoJo take home Entertainer; he absolutely deserves it! He was in Little Rock a few months ago, and his show is just incredible."

KNIX/Phoenix PD Reid Spivey "loved the overall feel of community. Ella's Female Artist speech was raw and real. She shared the support she had gotten from Lainey [Wilson] and Miranda, who were also nominated. Cody's Entertainer speech that he dedicated to Luke Combs ... really showed how close we are as a format." WQDR's Leigh also found Johnson's dedication to Combs "very admirable," and SiriusXM Highway

BIG LOUD

Reid Spivey

Lauryn Snapp

Shawn Patrick

Mornings with Cody Alan Producer Lauryn Snapp called it "genuinely special."

Spivey enjoyed the show's diversity, saying, "Lainey, Kane [Brown] and Kacey had full productions, as you would expect on a show like this, but then you had Ella playing a power acoustic version of 'Be Her.' Really cool to show the range of country music performers."

KYGO/Denver PD Shawn Patrick enjoyed the show's "fast-moving format. My attention span and sleep schedule are very thankful for a show that's less than two and a half hours. Outside of a few technical issues, I thought the sound was great, and all of the artists showed off their talents during their performances."

Snapp shared some insight from watching the show live at the MGM Grand Garden Arena, noting, "When the lights go down, you learn a lot about people. Tucker Wetmore sounded incredible performing 'Brunette' live, but the moment that stuck with me happened after the applause when he walked to every single bandmate, thanking and congratulating them one-by-one. That's real star power. Meanwhile, Ella cried the entire walk back to her seat, and honestly, so did half the room. What a powerful night watching everyone recognize women for their talent and not just their gender."

Favorite performances for Jordan included Dan + Shay's "Say So" and Kane Brown's "Woman." Patrick also singled out the show's "mental health moment with Lauren [Alaina] and Dan + Shay." Both Allen and Patrick enjoyed Blake Shelton's show-closing cover of "The Gambler," which Allen called "amazing." Stewart thought both Avery Anna and The Red Clay Strays took "full advantage of being on that big stage. I loved seeing them both have statement performances."

Stewart was "disappointed at the lack of love for Country radio displayed by Amazon, as the [winning] programmers looked like they were held in a cattle corral and barely acknowledged." [Ed. Note: The ACM Board was seated in that same "corral."] Stewart also thought "the sound wasn't great and mics being turned up and on seemed to be an issue over and over again. There were too many awkward moments walking off the stage to the performance transitions."

Contrary to Jordan's opinion, Patrick wasn't enamored of Twain's hosting, finding it lacked "any sort of fun vibes." Several questioned the absence of a performance from the host, and noted figurative vacant seats from top nominees Morgan Wallen, Luke Combs, Jelly Roll and Megan Moroney.

On a positive note, Stewart loved that the ACM "allowed artists to be vulnerable and real on the stage. From Ella being speechless to Lauren Alaina's moving introduction of Dan + Shay and then, of course, the performance of 'Say So,' this was an important night to show that Country is the one format that must remain authentic and real. In a world of AI, questionable algorithms and divisive rhetoric, fans and listeners are trusting our format to deliver them the raw, emotional truth in both the lyrics and the people behind the music that we all love so much." -Phyllis Stark

CHECKOUT

McCoy Moore Sunshine State (Sony Music Nashville)
 "This record is something I've been working on my whole life and didn't even know it," he says. "I feel like I covered all the bases of who I am, where I'm from and the music I love to make. The people, the places, the memories, it all made this record, even after I left Florida. It was only right that I give a nod to the place where it all started, the Sunshine State."

Julia Cole Love You To Death (Broke/Lyric Ridge Records)
 Celebrating "sisterhood country," the project includes lead single "Day Late & A Buck Short" and "At My Wedding," an ode to best friends, moms and sisters with an accompanying video filmed at Olia Zavozina's couture studio and featuring Cole's real-life friends and sister.

Toby Keith 35 Biggest Hits (Ume)
 Originally issued as a two-CD set in 2008, the three-LP version includes "Courtesy Of The Red, White And Blue (The Angry American)," "Should've Been A Cowboy," "I Love This Bar" and "How Do You Like Me Now?!"

Ian Harrison Jealous (Sony Music Nashville)
 Harrison describes "Not Yours," the most recent release from the EP, as, "a song about not being able to move on from someone, but it's more than just not wanting to; it's about when there's something in your heart or head holding you back. You can try over and over again to forget someone and get better but fail every time, even when the new person in front of you is perfect on paper." The seven-song project also features previously released tracks "Cigarette" and "Games."
